

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed generally to an adapter for use with enteral tubes or catheters, and more particularly to a product that enables the venting or decompression of enteric gases through an enteral catheter. The adapter is configured
5 to allow continuous venting with reduced concern about liquid leakage or the need for the user to limit their activities or assume certain positions during venting.